

Character Backstories

Clara – The Guardian Librarian

Clara spent her entire life in the Great Knowledge Vault, guarding books no one else could read. As a child, she had a rare gift — she could hear faint “whispers” from the scrolls, as though the knowledge itself called to her. While most saw the vault as a silent tomb of forgotten wisdom, Clara believed it was alive, waiting for someone to unlock its secrets. For decades, she searched for a way to decode it, until she met Rian.

Rian – The Curious Coder

Rian grew up in Algoville, always tinkering with old computers and dreaming of making machines “think.” He never fit in with traditional schools but loved solving puzzles. One day, while exploring an abandoned archive, he stumbled upon an ancient scroll describing the “Retriever’s Art.” Realizing it was connected to Clara’s mysterious library, he sought her guidance. His coding skills and Clara’s lifetime of wisdom made them an unlikely but perfect team.

RAG – The Retrieval-Augmented Guardian

RAG was not born but created — forged from Clara’s deep knowledge and Rian’s coding genius. Unlike ordinary machines, RAG was designed to understand context and find meaning within the vault’s endless scrolls. Though artificial, it carried pieces of both Clara’s guardianship and Rian’s curiosity. To the people of Algoville, RAG became more than a tool — it was a trusted guide, bridging the past and the future of knowledge.
